CHINESE NEWS. — We have news from Hong Kong to the 19th of November

The soldiers of Ward the American General of the Imperialists who was killed a short time since, have been committing depredations at Ningpo in revenge for the bad treatment of some of their comrades

The cholera is raging at Canton, and many foreigners have died of it. The mortality among the natives is very great

The French now hold the important city of Yu Yao where they levy taxes on produce, the property of both native and foreign merchants

A fire occurred in Hong Kong on the 14th which destroyed property valued at $40,000.

The Overland Trade Report of the 14th November gives the following summary of news

No intelligence whatever of a political nature has been received from Pekin. The Taiping insurgents have not approached nearer to Shanghae than Kahding the capture whereof was reported last mail. This place they have menaced in force and will in all probability retake. It turns out that in capturing it the casualties of the allies were as follows British, 19 killed and wounded; French, 5 wounded disciplined Chinese, 14 killed and wounded. This result is of itself in no way serious, but no sooner was the place captured than the Cholera broke out in the British force, and by last advices raged violently, so much so, that the mortality on board H M S Euryalus, (bearing the flag of Adml. Kuper who, with the greater portion of his crew were present at the capture of Kahding,) had become so severe as to dictate the necessity of taking a cruise to sea.

The drilling and disciplining of Chinese for the Imperial service still continues, the hope of the cause hinging upon the success of the movement. Judging from the material of which the force is composed, and from the fact of their being such an utter want of esprit de corps in its ranks as to necessitate the employment of foreign mercenaries as officers,—this hope is but a slender one.

We understand that a number of Russian gunboats and other war vessels are collecting at Nagasaki with the avowed intention of proceeding to the Yang tsze for the purpose of affording the Imperial cause all the material support possible against the Taiping insurgents. We believe that this force will be commanded by an Admiral and will be capable of landing 1,500 men

SIAM AND BURMAH —A correspondent of the Hong Kong Press, dated at Bang Kok, October 18th, says

On the 12th inst His Majesty, the First King, accompanied by H E, the Prime Minister, and their retinue in seven steamers, proceeded to Kok So Chang, an island in the Gulf. His Majesty pays an annual visit to this and other adjacent islands in the Gulf.—There was a grand Siamese and Burmese regatta at Paknam on Thursday, an eye-witness informs me that there must have been no less than 1,500 boats of all sizes, mostly propelled by women

On the same day there was a Grand Royal Procession at the Palace, His Majesty in full costume, as also all his nobles and ministers, accompanied by the band and troops, fell into procession order and proceeded to Wat Poh. This is one of the grandest sights Siam affords —to describe it faithfully is no mean task —The King wore his crown, and many other precious jewels were about his royal person —the nobles were all adorned in accordance with their position and wealth, in point of fact, it was a display of wealth and fashion.

MEMORIAL —The following is the memorial introduced in the House of Representatives of Washington Territory, by Mr Griswold, of Pacific county, relating to the improvement of the Cascades and Dalles portages of the Columbia river, and which passed the House and was rejected by the Council

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America

Your petitioners the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington, would respectfully represent That the vast mining regions of Washington Territory and Oregon are and must of necessity be principally supplied through the channels of the Columbia river and its tributaries that the obstructions to the navigation of said river known as the Cascades and Dalles portages, demand the attention of Congress with a view of determining the practicability of opening the navigation of the Columbia at these points by means of a canal of sufficient capacity to accommodate the steamboats engaged in the commerce of the Columbia river

Your petitioners would therefore respectfully recommend that your Honorable body will take the matter into consideration and provide such improvements as the vast prospective commerce of the country and the public good shall require. And your petitioners will ever pray &c

TUESDAY MORNING JAN [illegible] 186[illegible]

How to Purify the Currency

The Government has announced its purpose of paying out all the gold collected from the Customs and Internal Revenue on the Pacific coast, amongst us on current governmental expenses and if there should be any deficit to make it up by paying the Legal Tender Notes. At this time the annual expenditures of the General Government on the Pacific amount to about $6,700,000. The total revenue collected is $4,150,000 of which $3,250,000 is from Customs and is paid in gold. This leaves $3,450,000 to be paid in greenbacks, of which about $1,000,000 [illegible] be paid in gold if the States elect to pay their quota under the Internal Revenue Law in that currency. But it is best to calculate that the larger sum will be paid in greenbacks, as it is quite impractical to collect the Internal Revenue in one currency in one portion of the Union and another in another place, always excepting that portion which the State assumes to collect herself.

We will in this way have $3,400,000 of this currency thrown in circulation here each year, which will seriously derange all monetary arrangements, unless some general rule of action is adopted, or the Government takes some vigorous measures to protect its currency. On this subject, the Government should have issued the Legal Tender Notes on the same basis on which the British Government once adopted the circulation of the Bank of England; it was made a felony to sell those notes for less than their face in coin. In the same way, if the nation had presented their Legal Tender Notes on the point of a bayonet, and punished the first man that discounted them, they would have answered all the purposes for which they were made. Further, if the Government had never entered into the obligation to pay the interest on her public debt in gold coin, which we believe was neither expressed or implied until recently, she might have gathered a reserve of gold on which, like England in her war against Napoleon, she might have built a power to defy the world. But it was deemed best to pay the capitalist holding national bonds his interest in gold, while the soldier receives his dues in depreciated currency. Thus the rich man gets what is worth one-third more than what is promised him, and the soldier's is one-third less. Without force is applied, the national paper currency will not become the standard of value, and we on this coast must do the best we can with as much of it as comes among us.

To this end, we repeat what we have before said: keep the price of the currency here a fraction below that of New York, and it will unfailingly flow to that place. In order to do this, we must adopt it as a principle and let the notes circulate freely at their understood value.

HOME THRUST.—The New York Herald lately had a sharp spat with the Paper Makers' Association, in regard to the high prices of paper. The Herald says that the advance in the price of paper is not at all proportioned to the advance in cotton and linen waste.—The President of the Association, H. V. Butler, says that the Press "may writhe under the high prices but it is powerless to help itself." But it appears that Mr. Colfax, of Indiana, has introduced a bill to reduce the duty on foreign paper to the amount of the tax paid on domestic paper. The Press supports this reduction in duties, and does not intend to "writhe" any longer under a monopoly. Even Horace Greeley, high protection tariff Greeley, is in favor of cheap paper.

LOG-ROLLING.—The Federal officials of California have clustered en masse at Sacramento to influence the California Legislature in the election of a U. S. Senator. Mr. Phelps, one of the Representatives of California in the U. S. House of Representatives, is the candidate of the office holding element. Conness and Sargent are the people's men, and it is hoped and believed that one or the other of those able and patriotic men will be elected. Tremor W. Park is the candidate from Mariposa, with a pocket full of money to spend, and very slim chances for an election. Excepting the fact that there is not so much whisky used as formerly, the present Senatorial canvass very much resembles the high old chivalry times of Wm. M. Gwin.

CHANGED THEIR TUNE.—The secesh sympathizers have lately discovered that Benj. R. Curtis, once a judge of the Supreme Court, is now the best living authority on constitutional questions. This is the same Curtis who differed from Judge Taney in the Dred Scott case. For this, he was abused by every Chivalry politician in the nation. We insist that if Curtis is good authority on "the Constitution as it is," he is also pretty sound on the Dred Scott case. We are of opinion that he has expressed sound doctrines on both subjects, but there is no special occasion to go into spasms about anything he ever said or did. If he had never lived, the Union would have existed without him; if he should die to-morrow, the Union would survive his loss.

Honesty, loyalty and capability are the prime requisites in a public officer. Without the first, men will steal; without the second men will act the traitor; without the third there is no efficiency; and without all there is no mutual confidence between those who administer public affairs and the people.

Prentice says that there are many shallow fords in the neighborhood of Harper's Ferry but none shallower than Col. Thomas H. Ford, who basely abandoned his position on Maryland Heights at the time of Miles' surrender. He might have added that there was no need of a ferry at Harper's Ferry when there was such a shallow and convenient Ford for the enemy's purposes.

GOLD.—The comparative richness of our Eastern gold fields and those of British Columbia may be arrived at from the statement of a few facts, in relation to the two districts. The British colonial mines first attracted general notice in 1858 and five mining seasons have passed since that time. Their annual produce has increased in that time from $375,000 in 1858 to $2,400,000 in 1862. During 1862 there was an operative mining population of about 12,000 persons in the British possessions. Our mines were discovered in 1861, and during that year produced not less than $1,750,000, and in 1862, considerably over $3,000,000 from them was received in San Francisco, to say nothing of the vast sums which we know went by private hands and the money which has gone into circulation among our agriculturists and stock raisers. Besides these, much money is retained in the hands of private parties in the mines. This last is not only true in a few cases but in many. During these two years, the mining population of our gold fields was not as great as that of the British colonial mines adjacent. In 1861 it was not over 3,000 and in 1862 certainly but little above 10,000. The total product of the British Columbian mines since the discovery has been about $5,750,000, or about $1,150,000 a year. With scarcely more than half the average population, our mines have produced over $5,000,000 that we know of and bid fair to stand only second to those of California in productiveness.

CHANGE IN THE ASPECT OF AFFAIRS.—During the first days of the war, the idea of shooting "a d—d Yankee" was so agreeable to the Southern mind that the intense Chivalry just gloated over it. But if Mr. Stevens' bill to arm one hundred and fifty thousand Africans becomes a law, the idea of shooting these ebony champions of the Union will not be so satisfactory. The last word of the Venerable Chivalry, as he puts the rifle in the hands of his son will be: "If you see any of our nigger fellers, spare them for the money that is wrapped up in their cussed black hides." This will rob the war of one of its most romantic aspects and set each high toned Southern young man to looking before he shoots, to be sure that he is not about to pick off one of dad's niggers. We look with profound interest to the development of this new feature in the war. If Old Abe had been advised by arch angel Michael himself he could not have struck upon a more effective method of touching the raw spot of our misguided Southern brethren. It will undoubtedly produce most fantastic squirmings on their part. The idea of a man destroying his own property in such a manner, would indeed be ludicrous if it were not for the dreadful accompaniments of slaughter and rapine.

NATIONAL TAX.—The national revenue, under the Internal Revenue Act and exclusive of the State quota from Oregon will reach $35,000. Wasco is the banner county of the State for having paid her assessment weeks before it was due.

DRAWING IT MILD.—Don Scranton in his Lewiston Age, thus holdeth forth on the mining prospects of the coming year: Another season, and discoveries will be made of such a nature as to astonish the most credulous (!) and make the doubtful ones believe that gold exists every where in our Territory (!!)

DECISIONS BY THE REVENUE COMMISSIONER.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has made the following decisions:

That [illegible] kip [illegible] skins are subject to a single duty of four per centum ad valorem [illegible] or finished.

Under the provisions of section seventy two of the Excise Law, by which building stone is declared not to be a manufacture, it is held that stone dressed for buildings whether rough hewn or carved is not subject to taxation, provided that articles manufactured from stone, marble, or slate, such as fireplace and mantle pieces, even though designed for particular buildings, but which are of such nature that they might be introduced into the commerce of the country as articles of traffic, are subject to a tax of three per centum ad valorem. Other manufactures of stone, marble or slate which are recognized as articles of traffic, are subject to a tax of three per centum ad valorem. It is the duty of Assessors and Assistant Assessors to apply these rules to cases as they arise.

WOUNDED.—General Campbell of Tennessee was among the wounded at Fredericksburg. Brigadier General William B. Campbell is a distinguished citizen of Tennessee, his native State. Though without formal military education he has been a soldier when occasion demanded since the Florida war of 1836.—From 1837 to 1843 he was a Representative in Congress. The Mexican war gave him another opportunity of indulging his martial propensities and he accordingly raised the First Regiment of Tennessee twelve months volunteers in June 1846 and led them into Mexico. At the close of the war he returned to Tennessee and in 1853 was elected Governor.—His loyalty to the Union was rewarded about six months ago with the lone star of Brigadier General.

Storage.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Umatilla House, is the only building, not made of wood at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and [illegible] exposed parts of the town liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1.50 per ton per month storage and all [illegible] storage in wooden buildings is $1.00 per ton [illegible] cannot fail to perceive the advantages this [illegible] possesses over other warehouses of this place.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL AND ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to Brown's Bronchial Troches, [illegible] let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec16d&w3m

White's Fever and Ague Drops.—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been [illegible] practice for many years with great success. It [illegible] failed to effect a speedy cure in Ague especially [illegible] having been found sufficient in most cases, and in no case are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

Legal Tender Notes this Day---65 cents.

EXPORTS.—The Pacific took down 5,300 boxes of apples; 2 cases of hams; 300 hides; 16 bbls. of beef; 5 bbls. of cranberries; 3 bales of wool; 28 pkgs. of lard; 20 pkgs. of eggs and $95,000 in treasure; of which $35,000 was in the hands of the Purser and $60,000 was shipped by Wells, Fargo & Co. A large quantity of Legal Tender Notes went in the hands of private parties or under enclosures and may be estimated at not less than $20,000 value. The tendency of paper currency is towards the great financial centers, where it will probably be for the most part converted into bonds.

GOLD RECEIPTS.—Messrs. Wells, Fargo & Co. received $20,000 in gold dust from up the Columbia, last night. An increase in the gold product may be looked for from this time forward.

GREENBACK SPECULATION.—Out of $290,005,96 which California has paid under the Internal Revenue Law, but $10,835,96 has been pain in coin. The U. S. Collectors, it is broadly hinted, have been making a good thing out of it. A. A. De Long, of the Fourth Collection District, by a remarkable fatality, has received $75,000 in Legal Tender Notes and not a cent in coin. One name deserves to be mentioned with honor; that of J. Sedgewick, of the Third District, who has collected more than one-half of his taxes in gold and paid it over to the U. S. Sub-Treasurer. Under ordinary circumstances, it is no credit for a man to be honest, but about this time it is. A man that will not snap up little unconsidered trifles, in the shape of differences between greenbacks and gold, will do to trust hereafter. We claim that Mr. Sedgewick is a Perfect Brick and recommend that he be appointed to look after the management of Indian affairs in this quarter.

DEMOCRACY IN THE COLONIES.—Our readers are mostly acquainted with the malfeasance [illegible] office of Mr. Justice Begbie, of British Columbia. In discussing his disreputable doings in that Colony, the Victoria Chronicle makes some remarks that have an application [illegible] this vicinity, and which sustain our view [illegible] the responsibility of public officials in our [illegible] country. The impertinent question (according to one of our public officers) is asked [illegible] our British cotemporary, whether Mr. [illegible] is to procure a delay in his case until [illegible] can procure a white-washing from the Home Government or not? It also insists [illegible] the Governor shall suspend the corrupt [illegible] in his functions, instead of allowing [illegible] to disgrace the bench which he has al[illegible] polluted by his crimes. In our own [illegible], we cannot suspend an official speculator [illegible], but we can call him to the bar [illegible] public opinion and show him up in such a [illegible] that he cannot be white-washed by any [illegible] of special pleading, or by any decis[illegible] of his "superiors." The sentiment which [illegible] the Chronicle is precisely that which [illegible] put forth, only we live under different [illegible] of government.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN LANE COUNTY.—Our [illegible]ondent at Eugene City, writing under [illegible] of the 21st of January, says: A shocking and fatal accident occurred about three [illegible] east from this place yesterday. Mr. [illegible] W. Powers was harnessing his horses [illegible] wagon, when something occurred to [illegible] them before they were fully secured [illegible] the wagon, and they suddenly started, [illegible] in some way he was struck a stunning [illegible], either by the horses or wagon, or both, and lived but a few moments. Mr. Powers was a very estimable citizen, and his loss will be widely felt. His funeral, which took place [illegible], was attended by a large concourse of [illegible] neighbors and sympathising friends of the [illegible]. He leaves a widow and two or three [illegible]ldren.

PRIVATE ADVICES.—Some days before the [illegible]encement of the decline in Legal Tender Notes, the San Francisco press failed to give the New York quotations of Government securities, including greenbacks, but relied on "private information." A prominent banker telegraphed this, and a prominent legal sharper telegraphed that, and down went the greenbacks on the authority of these "private advices." If we could have old Abe's ear, our "private advice" would be for him to hang certain alarmists who are speculating on the miseries of their country and countrymen.

STARVATION STARING THE REBELS IN THE FACE.—The Boston Traveller says:

We are informed that a gentleman of property arrived here recently, who had abandoned his estate in Tennessee from the absolute conviction that it would be impossible for him to remain there the coming Winter, as the whole country had been despoiled of food by the contending armies. He reports that the most terrible privations are already experienced by the inhabitants of that doomed region, and it is feared that pestilence and famine will be the portion of many who are now, from scanty supplies, eking out a most miserable existence. There is not the least doubt that if the inhabitants of Tennessee could be allowed to vote upon the subject, they would give a very large majority in favor of a return to the Union.

MASONRY AT VICTORIA.—The installation of the officers of Victoria, V. I., Lodge, No. 1085, E. R., took place at Victoria, on the 8th inst. The following is the list of officers: Robert Burnaby, Esq., W. M.; Thomas Harris, Esq., Mayor, S. W.; Richard Lewis, Esq., J. W.; M. Sporborg, Esq., Treasurer; William H. DOCTOR VAN ZANDT,
CONSULTING PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,

Office Corner of Washington and Sansome streets, San Francisco.

The GREAT SUCCESS of the CENTURY in the PRACTICAL MEDICINE.

The [illegible] Electro-[illegible] Nature, [illegible] Nervous and Spinal Diseases.

THAT [illegible] ESPECIALLY APPLIED [illegible] to prove the great [illegible] by physicians, to aid [illegible] organic and functional defects of the human body. It is a part of that great principle of vitality known as nervous influence, and necessarily must have much to do in obviating diseased action.

Too Much Cannot be Said

In its praise, for it is highly probable that in health there is an equal equilibrium of the Electric principle; and should this [illegible] of health be broken or lost,—should [illegible] be negatively electrified when it should be positive [illegible] the current be drawn, and is there not a [illegible] going on in the system? [illegible] the tissues of the body should be [illegible] to remedial agents, we must first restore and

Awaken the Magnetic Life within us

The spinal and sympathetic nervous systems. Believing as I do most firmly in this great magnetic or electrical intensity of the earth, with its influence upon our bodies in health and disease, I am led to take advantage of the [illegible] through which to awaken attention to the subject, that good may come to all.

No Compromise with Disease.

Give the body strength, and nature will relieve herself. Purify the blood, render the stomach, liver, heart, kidney and all the natural functions active by ELECTRICAL excitation, and at once the aged, the pained, the nervous, the dispirited, the melancholic, the dyspeptic and the invalid revive under its benign influence.

To the Ladies of California.

Dr. Van Zandt's success with complaints of women, both in family and office practice, is owing to his correct views of the origin of all their maladies. Ladies can consult him with entire confidence, as he is no speculator upon human ills—but is proving himself the only member of the legitimate profession in California who is really successful in removing those ills which are the peculiar province of the sex. His high appreciation of their delicately attuned nervous organism, together with their great sympathetic life, renders him doubly able to assuage those silent complainings which they bear so patiently and so long. No social disquietude need longer afflict our home circles; for he can awaken the stricken energies; restore the wonted tonicity of the body, awaken the melancholic and despondings; arrest those downs which cause so much anxiety; cure those protean maladies which have so long

Baffled the Skill of Physicians.

Develope appetite, life and animation, dispel nervous headache, sinking at the stomach, wandering pains, wasting away of a cough; extreme debility and lifelessness, hectic cough, sleeplessness, unpleasant dreams and that general depression of life's powers, which go to render her life a misery and death a boon. Dr. Van Zandt, with his new method of exciting the Electro-Galvanic current, together with his remedial measures which are adapted to the necessities of California, will assure you of a complete and radical recovery of all bodily and mental infirmities, and will restore you to usefulness, and spare you a blessing to your family and society.

All the world over

wherever disease exists, whether special to the soil and climate or common to all regions—epidemic or casual, acute or chronic, contagious or non-contagious—it is as necessary to restore the ELECTRO-GALVANIC equilibrium, especially in California, as it is to give food to the starving. This statement is based upon a series of facts extending through many years, and verified by hundreds of patients; so that no principle of science, no rule of experience, no result of any well known cause, rests upon more sure and unassailable foundations, than those which underlie the world-wide reputation of Electricity for the cure of all nervous states of the body, faulty digestion, mental and physical debility or prostration, coughs, asthma, wandering pains of a rheumatic, gouty or mercurial character, and all forms of disease, the result of scrofula or cachectic habit of body.

None Need Despair of Relief.

If you have ulcers which will not heal—pains that cannot be removed—melancholy which you cannot shake off—loss of power which you cannot regain—depression of spirits which weigh you down—wakefulness that knows no sleeping—business that languishes for want of energy—a void which no society can fill—suspicion which no assurance can allay—Go to Dr. Van Zandt, for his great success and the safety with which he administers his new method of electrical excitation, together with his remedies, which are adapted to the requirements of climate and constitution, will assure you of a complete and radical removal of all bodily and mental infirmities, within the scope of science and man to remove.

The Eye and Ear Diseases.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr Van Zandt has made these afflictions an especial study, and that he is the only Surgeon in our State [illegible] diploma for that branch of practice. [illegible] of the eye and ear troubles [illegible] deranged nervous action, and [illegible] electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness, etc. All operations successfully done on those delicate organs of sense.

DR. BAKER'S
PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of [illegible] internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and it will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

The Sisters.

That very morning I wrote to my sister requesting her to inquire Miss Glenfield of the aurist's purposed visit and, if possible, to be at Woods Cottage herself the next afternoon, and also to inform us of the result of the interview. In compliance with my request, Caroline wrote that he had come according to promise. That he had given no decided opinion, that Miss Glenfield had borne the visit remarkably well, but that poor Rebecca had been much agitated.

Well, time passed on. Mr Morton answering somewhat dubiously my occasional inquiries, till I received a letter from my sister, which rather surprised me. It ran thus:

"DEAR LOUISA—I wish you would ascertain positively whether Mr Morton is married or not. I have asked Fredrick—to be sure, only as it were casually—and he thinks he is unmarried. But I want to know positively. He comes very frequently to the cottage—more frequently I am sure than a case like hers can require. It is a sad thing to be deaf, but it would be a much sadder thing to have her heart blighted—though, perhaps it is already too late. If Mr Morton is married he must see Amelia no more, except at my house."

I was thunder struck, and yet not a little amused at the idea of a young girl having her heart blighted by an eccentric surgeon more than twice her age. I determined, however, to run down at once to Beconsfield—run down as I had promised—and see the aurist and Amelia myself—But it so happened that on the next day, when I went to the station, I discovered I had made a mistake, it was the arriving train that I was in time for, the other would not depart for two hours. As I stood on the platform, vexed at my stupidity, and hardly knowing whether to wait or return home, I was accosted by a gentleman, whom if I had not been addressed as "Miss Rawlins," I should never have recognized as Mr Morton. He looked ten years younger than when I first saw him, his dress, too, was improved, and altogether he seemed to me a happy, and quite a handsome man.

"Just come from Beconsfield, Miss Rawlins?" said he, taking my hand, and pressing it warmly. "I wonder I did not see you before, but I suppose you must have been in another carriage. All well at home?"

"Quite well, sir, thank you," answered I rather distantly. "But how is Miss Glenfield?"

"Very well indeed—getting on nicely—But I see I am detaining you from your friends," as a group of strangers approached where I was standing; and again pressing my hand, he bowed, and hurried away. I was vexed; but as I had seen the doctor, what use was there in waiting two hours to go down to Beconsfield?

In the evening, as we were sitting at tea at home, I introduced the subject of Miss Glenfield's possible cure; and after alluding ... I asked boldly whether he was married.

"Married!" repeated my mother in surprise. "No, Louisa, no. He is one of those old bachelors who would grudge himself a wife. Why, Anne lived there as housemaid, and she says he keeps the servants on board wages and almost starves himself."

"I don't know," said I, vexed to hear the doctor depreciated, "what business Anne has to talk of those who employ her. He seems to me a kind and benevolent man."

"He may be so, Louisa, in his profession," remarked my father, looking up from his evening paper; "but depend upon it, he is not generally benevolent. Why, I once applied to him myself about the poor Poles, and he refused to subscribe one shilling; he never gave to public charities, he said—nor to private ones either, in my opinion."

All this was nearly conclusive, but I resolved to hazard another inquiry. The next morning, I went to a milliner, a friend of ours, who resided in the vicinity of Regent Street. After admiring her elegant novelties, and attending to a little affair of my own, I spoke of my young friend and Mr. Morton, and then smilingly asked her whether she worked for Mrs Morton.

"I work for Mrs Morton and her family too," replied my friend, "but not the lady of the aurist, but of his brother, a respectable solicitor. In fact, the Mr Morton you mean has no wife, and if he had, I am afraid the poor lady would scarcely employ me," she went on smiling and shrugging her shoulders—"for Mrs Morton tells me he is terribly stingy."

As this confirmed what I had previously heard I felt satisfied, but before replying to my sister, resolved to call on Mr Morton myself.

He was at home, and evidently glad to see me; but when I said that my sister, Mrs Rawlins, was very anxious to know when he could pronounce a decided opinion as regarded Miss Glenfield, I remarked that he colored, and seemed rather embarrassed. He paused a moment.

"To tell the truth, Miss Rawlins," said he hurriedly, "I should like to finish the cure at home." He hesitated. I looked at him, but knew not what to reply. I suppose I must have appeared much delighted, for there was no mistaking his meaning.

His countenance brightened, and he went on, with little circumlocution, to say, that he had conceived a great regard for Miss Glenfield; that he was sure she was the only woman who could make him happy, and that he was very desirous of making her his wife.

I could scarcely restrain my feelings at the idea of Amelia's good fortune, however, I managed quietly to congratulate him on his choice, to speak in the highest terms of Miss Glenfield's lady like demeanor, and her amiability and affectionate disposition, "but then," I added, "you know she is poor and friendless, and has a dependent sister."

"As to her sister," replied the aurist, "I like Rebecca almost as well as—as Miss Glenfield, and as to their being friendless, between you and me, Miss Rawlins, I don't think that much of a loss, I shouldn't like to be troubled with a wife's tribe of relations." Again the word wife! but I preserved a calm countenance, and as he hesitated anew, I ventured to ask when the wedding was to take place, "for I suppose," I added, "Miss Glenfield and you have settled it."

"Why no Miss Rawlins," replied I, "Amelia hasn't settled anything, but I don't think she would object. I wanted to have spoken to you, Mrs Rawlins. I think Mrs Rawlins must be ill, for I have not seen her for some time, and I did go to Mrs Morton, my brother's wife, and requested her to visit Amelia, telling her that she was a daughter of the gentleman my brother had served his articles to. And what do you think she said—that she had no idea of visiting a mere adventuress!—That woman shall never cross my threshold again. Miss Glenfield is a gentlewoman and could not have uttered such language—Could not you and Mrs Rawlins manage the affair? I will write to Amelia this afternoon, to prepare her as to the time, although the essential part I consider settled already, and pray, Miss Rawlins, let the matter be arranged as soon as possible so that I may be able to attend to business as usual. There will be some little matters of dress required," he went on, "there are two fifty pound notes for Amelia, if she wants more, you will be so good as to write. Of course she is in her own house, she will have everything at her own disposal. And there is another fifty for Rebecca—she will be an essential companion for her sister when I am from home."

I took the notes in a perfect bewilderment. There was I, a young maiden of twenty or so, preparing for my own bridal, which was to take place in a fortnight, quietly arranging with a stranger the preliminaries for the wedding of another.

"But I forgot to tell you, Miss Rawlins," resumed Mr Morton, "that I am going this evening to Mr Glenfield, the proctor, Amelia's uncle. He has shamefully neglected her, but as he is her uncle, and is a respectable man I will ask his consent to the marriage if it was only to vex my brother's wife."

I walked home in a dream. Why do romancers puzzle their brains to bring about their consummations by means of extraordinary events and coincidences? Could anything be simpler than the present concatenation, anything wilder than the results? These two poor, lonely, helpless girls, whom I had left sitting by their cottage door, working for bread—the one in utter darkness, the other surrounded by dread silence which thunder itself could not break—behold them now coming forth from their solitude into comfort, competence, and society, the blind clothed in smiles of happiness, and feeling no want of eyes as she leans on her sister's arm, and the deaf with love in her full heart, and the music of all nature in her ears! It was delightful to think that I had myself a part in bringing about this consummation; and yet, as I walked, my eyes filled, and in spite of all my efforts, the tears came rolling down my cheeks.

Soon after, my own marriage took place, and I removed to another part of the country. In due time—that is to say, in less than a month—I received a letter from my mother, giving me all the news. My mother stated that she had bestowed as much attention, and felt almost as much interest in Miss Glenfield's bridal, as she could have done in that of one of her own daughters. She added, she was not at all surprised at the interest I had evinced in Mr Morton's choice, "and I really begin to be of your opinion, Louisa, as to his kindly disposition, and as for his being parsimonious—so far as I have seen—it is rather Mrs Morton, who will limit the expenditure of the family. I wish you had seen Miss Glenfield in her bridal dress—she looked so beautiful, so calm, so ladylike. Poor Rebecca scarcely knew what to do, but I had her by my side, and she wept her tears on my bosom. Poor girl! she whispered to me that she thought it was the first time she had ever really regretted her loss of sight, she should so like to see her sister."

"FATHER'S CHIMNEY."—A few days since a number of prisoners of war, who had been released on parole, passed over the P S & P Railroad, (Maine,) on their way to their homes. Among the number was a blue-eyed, pale faced boy, not more than seventeen, whose shoulders seemed scarcely equal to carry a forty pound knapsack. For some time he had been looking intently out of the car window, and suddenly, when the train was approaching Biddleford, he jumped up, and with his face all aglow and eyes sparkling with delight, exclaimed "Boys, there's my father's chimney." As if by a simultaneous inspiration the soldiers all arose and sang "Sweet Home" with the effect that this sometimes produced by these simple notes and simple lines. More than one bearded man looked out of the window as an excuse to conceal his tears.

SHEEP AND WOOL.—Great activity prevails in the sheep and wool markets just now. Cotton and cotton fabrics are dear and rising. The wool from the backs of 5,000,000 of sheep will be annually required for even our present army. How many years this demand is to continue, depends, we think, upon the energy and right use of means by the President. Stimulated by the present and prospective high prices of wool and woolen fabrics, our western farmers are increasing their flocks beyond precedent. Go on, gentlemen, there is no Multicaulis, Tulip, or other 'Will o the wisp' leading this movement. The army of 1,000,000 men, the militia of the several States soon to be organized and partly uniformed, besides the ordinary consumption by the families of the country, render perfectly certain remunerating prices.

IMPROVEMENTS IN HOUSEKEEPING.—It is sometimes said that there are less improvements in the art of housekeeping than any other. It is quite true that there are not enough of them, and those that are made are not generally adopted. Let us refer now to what we regard as an improvement in the little art of shelling beans.—The old method making use of the thumb and fingers, then the use of a needle to prepare the pods to open readily. Now the method is to pour upon the pods a quantity of scalding water and the beans slip very easily from the pod. By pouring scalding water on apples, the skin may be easily slipped off and much labor saved.—Scientific American

Proclamation by the Governor

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, PORTLAND, OREGON, January 1863.

In the [illegible] of the United States, through Brigadier General George Wright, commanding the Department of the Pacific, and Brig. General Benjamin Alvord, commanding the District of Oregon, I have been requested to raise six additional companies required to fill up the 1st Regiment of Cavalry, Oregon Volunteers. They will be [illegible] the coming Spring, on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory, and for an expedition against the Snake Indians who have so long been murderously engaged in [illegible] emigrants and murdering our fellow citizens. I am induced to think that the citizens of Oregon, who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services, will in this instance respond to this call, thereby showing their loyalty to the Government and aiding in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers.

The enlisted men will be mounted, and will be supplied with horses by the United States, it being understood that they will be mounted [illegible] as shall be deemed advisable by the Government.

Propositions to raise a whole company which will furnish their own horses and horse equipments, may be entertained. The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents a day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments.

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men, and when mustered into the service of the United States to serve for three years unless sooner discharged.

Recruiting offices will be immediately opened at Portland, Dalles City, and perhaps at other places. By the Governor.
